

ENG STORYBOARD From the field to the spoon

Once upon a time, in a quiet and beautiful rural village, there lived a girl named Elina. She lived in a small house near large meadows and forests, where the sun shone over the tree branches every morning, and birds sang in all seasons. Elina had always dreamed of having a big farm where she could work and take care of animals. One of her biggest dreams was to start raising chickens.

She knew it would take time and patience, but she was ready to work hard to achieve her goal. One spring morning, Elina went to visit her neighbor, who had been raising chickens for a long time. The neighbor, named Maruta, was very knowledgeable and kind. She showed Elina how to build the first cages, how to provide the chickens with suitable food, and how to take care of their health. "Don't worry, girl, it all starts with one egg," said Maruta, showing Elina the different breeds of chickens. "Once you start with one egg, you will be one step closer to your own farm." Elina returned home with great excitement. She bought some chickens and built a small, comfortable cage for them, which she surrounded with flowers and tree branches. She took care of the chickens with great love - feeding them, cleaning the cages and making sure that the laying hens were safe. A couple of weeks later, as the spring sun grew warmer, Elina found the first egg. Her eyes sparkled as she held this treasure in her hands. It was just the beginning, but she felt that it was a big step towards making her dream come true. Every day, Elina took care of her chickens more and more. She noticed that some chickens laid more eggs than others, and she began to learn how to care for each of them individually. Her little chicks began to grow, and they became her greatest pride. Once Elina had established a small but healthy poultry farm, she began to focus on how to develop the farm.

She realized that eggs alone would not be enough to build a stable farm. She also needed to think about meat, about how to ensure that the chickens were healthy and capable of producing not only eggs but also good meat products. Elina bought more chickens, added a few roosters, and her farm began to grow. She had a lot of work to do - every day she cleaned the cages, took care of the chickens' food, and even started offering her products at local markets. She was proud of how her work was growing and how the farm became a part of the life of the local community. From farm to table. Over the years, Elina had not only built a successful chicken farm, but also learned how to use her products to prepare delicious dishes. Her house often smelled of chicken soup and fried chicken fillets made from the birds she raised herself. One of her most popular recipes was a special chicken salad that was served at village festivals. Everyone knew that this salad was special - it was made with eggs and meat from local chickens that were raised with love and care. Time that goes on.

Over the years, Elina became a prominent homemaker, respected throughout the village. Her farm had grown considerably, but she always remembered her first steps — the moment she received her first egg and realized that the dream of a farm was possible. She continued to care for the chickens and her animals with the same passion and love as on the first day. And so, from a small field and one egg, Elina built a farm that brought not only income, but also joy and satisfaction — both to her and to everyone who enjoyed her carefully grown products. From the field to the spoon — that's how Elina transformed her dreams into reality, and became an inspiration to everyone who is looking for a path from work and love to an outcome that can be put on the table. And the tale continues... A wide view of the countryside with a small house on the edge of a meadow, the morning sun rising over the trees. The girl Elina stands in front of the house, looking into the distance. Elina: "One day I will have a big farm full of animals!" Elina is talking to her neighbor Maruta. Maruta keeps chickens egg and shows Elina a catalog of chicken breeds. Maruta: "Start with one egg, and step by step you will reach your goal." Elina learns how to take care of chickens and prepare a home for them. Elina builds a chicken coop in her yard. Some chickens walk around, and Elina feeds them with a smile on her face. Elina: "My chickens will be happy and safe." Elina finds the first egg in her coop. She holds it in her hands with great joy on her face. Elina: "This is just the beginning, but I already feel that the dream is coming true!" In the yard, hens with chicks are seen growing. Elina carefully feeds the chicks and checks the coop. Elina: "Every small step brings me closer to my big farm." Elina now works on a larger farm with many chickens and even a rooster. She stands next to a market stall with eggs and chicken meat. Buyer: "These are the most delicious eggs and meat in the whole village!" Elina's farm is becoming famous throughout the village. Elina is cooking in her kitchen. There are chicken fillets and fresh eggs on the table. Elina: "All my products come with love and care." Elina stands in the middle of the farm, surrounded by her animals, and she smiles.

The villagers come to visit and buy products. Elina: "From a small egg to a big farm - everything starts with a dream and work." A young girl who dreams of her own farm meets Elina. Elina shows her how to properly keep and feed a small chicken. Elina: "Start with one egg, like me, and with patience you can achieve great things." The girl: "I want to do just like you!" Elina's farm is now environmentally friendly - a wind turbine and solar panels are visible in the background. She is testing technologies that help her farm. Elina: "Sustainable technologies not only help nature, but also reduce costs." Elina is at a large farmers' market. Her stall is full of fresh eggs, canned goods, and chicken. Shoppers crowd around her. Shopper: "Your products are the best! I come to the market every week for your eggs."

Comic Book: From the Field to the Spoon

Page 1: The Beginning

- Scene: The girl Elina is standing in front of the house, looking into the distance.
- Caption: Wide view of the countryside with a small house on the edge of the meadow, the morning sun rising over the trees.
- Text: Elina: "One day I will have a big farm full of animals!"

Figure 2: Encouragement

- Scene: Elina's conversation with her neighbor Maruta.
- Caption: Maruta holds a chicken egg and shows Elina a catalog of chicken breeds.
- Text: Maruta: "Start with one egg and step by step you will reach your goal."

Figure 3: Action

- Scene: Elina is building a chicken coop in her backyard.
- Caption: Yard, boards, hammer.
- Text: Explanation: "Elina learns how to take care of chickens and prepare a home for them."

Figure 4: Plans

- Scene: Demonstration of the first completed works.
- Caption: Some chickens are walking around and Elina is feeding them with a smile on her face.
- Text: Elina: "My chickens will be happy and safe!"

Figure 5: Result

- Scene: A certificate for a job well done.
- Caption: Cage, chickens, close-ups of chickens.
- Text: -

Figure 6: Result

- Scene: Showing the first results - Elina finds the first egg.
- Caption: Close-up of Elina's face. Elina holds the egg in her hands with great joy on her face.

- Text: Explanation: "The first egg!" Elina: "It's only the beginning, but I already feel that the dream is coming true!"

Figure 7: Process

- Scene: Work, its fruits, and development plans.
- Caption: The sun is shining. Chickens with chicks can be seen in the yard. Elina feeds the chickens and checks the cages.
- Text: Elina: "Every small step brings me closer to my big farm."

Figure 8: Development

- Scene: After some time, the development is demonstrated.
- Caption: Backyard, a much larger farm with lots of chickens and a rooster.
- Text: Explanation: Elina's farm has grown significantly!

Figure 9: Emotions

- Scene: The girl's joy and pride in what she has accomplished.
- Caption: Close-up of Elina's face (joy and pride).
- Text: Explanation: "Every day Elina took care of her chickens more and more."

Figure 10: Work

- Scene: It takes effort and attention to get results.
- Caption: Elina wipes sweat from her forehead but smiles.
- Text: Explanation: She had a lot of work - every day she cleaned the cages, took care of the chickens' feed, and even started offering her products in the local markets.

Figure 11: Confirmation

- Scene: Request, value.
- Caption: Elina is standing behind the market stall with eggs and chicken meat. A man came to the stand.
- Text: Buyer: "These are the tastiest eggs and meat in the whole village!"

Figure 12: Demand

- Scene: Application of homemade products.
- Caption: Close-up. Products placed on the market stand (eggs, meat).
- Text: Explanation: Elina's farm becomes famous throughout the village.

Figure 13: Application

- Scene: Application of homemade products.
- Caption: Elina in the kitchen. Food prepared on the table, chicken fillets, and fresh eggs.
- Text: -

Figure 14: Attitude

- Scene: To demonstrate the importance of believing in a dream and putting in the work to achieve it.
- Caption: Elina is standing in the middle of the farm, her animals around her, and she is smiling.
- Text: Elina: "All my products are created with love and care."

Figure 15: Public Support

- Scene: Popularity and demand for homemade healthy products.
- Caption: Village people come to visit Elina and buy products.
- Text: Elina: "From a small egg to a large farm - everything starts with a dream and work."

Figure 16: Joy and Satisfaction

- Scene: Characterization of farm growth.
- Caption: Portraits of chickens, large farms, and outbuildings.
- Text: -

Figure 17: Passing on Knowledge and Experience

- Scene: To share experience and knowledge.
- Caption: A young girl who dreams of her own farm meets Elina. Elina shows her how to properly hold and feed a baby chick.
- Dialogue:
 - Elina: "Start with one egg, like me, and with patience, you can achieve great things."
 - Girl: "I want to do exactly like you!"

Figure 18: Environmentally Friendly Management and Sustainability

- Scene: Elina's farm is now eco-friendly.

- Caption: A wind generator and solar panels can be seen in the background. Elina tests technology that helps her farm.
- Text: Elina: "Sustainable technologies not only help nature but also reduce costs."

Figure 19: Assessment

- Scene: The results of your work are valued and important to people.
- Caption: Large volume of products.
- Text: The products produced on Elina's farm are healthy and therefore in high demand.

Figure 20: Conclusion

- Scene: Message.
- Caption: Elina is in a large country market. Her stand is full of fresh eggs, canned goods, and chicken. Buyers crowd around her.
- Text: Buyer: "Your products are the best! I come to the market every week for your eggs."